Women Make Good Bankers, Says One Who Has Proved It

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Writer

The twentieth century offers women a big future as investment counselors if they will take the time to train adequately and work hard enough, says one who has spent the last 25 years in the field.

She is Mrs. Arleen Hughes, head of K. W. Hughes & Co., Colorado Springs brokers and investment counselors, which maintained a Wall Street branch office until Mrs. Hughes' death in 1933. Mrs. Hughes, who is also director of a dozen utility and general service companies in New England and the west, comes to New York about four times a year.

"Women have certain qualities which fit them peculiarly for the investment field," she said during a recent New York visit. "If a person's funds are to be wisely invested and handled, his personal life and problems have to be considered. That means such matters as his health, the way his marriage is going, the way the children are behaving, etc. These matters can present some thorny questions, but there is always a way out, if you will take the time."

Superior Qualities.

"That is the reason I think women can be of special value. They are generally more painstaking and patient, more inclined to bother with the problems of human nature than men. People learn they would not talk over with a man. I have as many men clients as women and I find they have as many of these problems as women do."

"Here is an instance of the kind of things which I have to consider: Suppose a widow who has children plans to marry again. She has property from her first husband and wants to safeguard her children's interest in it. Under Colorado law, it would be die before her second husband, he would get half of her estate. But there is a way to work around the problem by a living trust."

"If a marriage is heading toward the rocks, certain types of investment are not advisable. If a person is not well, he should have a sizable sum of cash available to use if he needs it. If a man has an irresponsible son, it is better to leave his inheritance in trust rather than to bequeath it to him outright."

Thorough Schooling Needed.

Mrs. Hughes warns, however, that both courses of study and long office experience are necessary to fit an investment counselor for the job and that women considering entering the field must be willing to give years to preparation.

Mrs. Hughes is a handsome woman with dark eyes and pink cheeks. Jewels flash on her fingers and in her ears. She came to her present position via the road of hard work. She was working as secretary-stenographer in Denver and planning to go to South America, when a friend told her that E. W. Hughes, broker, was looking for a secretary and suggested the apply for the job. She did—and got it.

A few years later, in 1923, she was married to the boss, and in 1928 he opened his own firm in Colorado Springs. Gradually the brokerage business extended to investment counseling and banking. After the firm's Wall Street branch was opened, Mrs. Hughes ran that and Mrs. Hughes concentrated on the western office. She hasn't reached South America yet.

PLEASANT HOMEMAKERS

"Hobbies" was the theme of a meeting of the Pleasant Homemakers club Monday night at the Pleasant school. Hobbies brought by the members provided an interesting exhibit and awards were won by Mrs. Henry Dutt and Mrs. Carl Messenger. Contest awards were won by Mrs. Marion Craven, Mrs. Robert Blank, Mrs. Leslie Bunnell and Mrs. Martha Baldauf. The program was arranged by Mrs. Ray Dutt, Mrs. Carl Hoch and Mrs. Stella Mahaffie, and serving as a refreshment committee were Mrs. Chester Herr, Mrs. George Lust, Mrs. Ralph Williams and Mrs. Albert Herr.

Miss Catherine Watson entertained the T.W.M. club Tuesday evening at her home at 147 Clover avenue. Bridge was played with high honors going to Mrs. Jack Lautenslager, second to Miss Margaret McAfee and the consolation to Mrs. Donald Preuninger. Lunch was served in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Preuninger on Olney avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Sons of 750 Merkle avenue left yesterday for Loma, Calif., for an extended visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Lempeis and family.

Sin as Soul Disease Subject of Sermon

"The Soul's Fatal Disease—Sin" was the sermon presented by Rev. John Dorsey, evangelist of Winchester, O., at First Wesleyan Methodist church Tuesday night. A good attendance marked the service. Rev. Dennis Mather, the pastor, reported. Harry Armstrong led a song service, and Mrs. Alva Redmond sang a special number.

Rev. Dorsey spoke on three points concerning sin.

- 1—God's revelation of sin through His prophets and seers, warning and prophesying of the fatal error of continuing in sin.
- 2—Human blindness to it. Just as God was fully aware of the dangerous nature of this spiritual disease, man was woefully blind to it. Hazal was sure he would not do the terrible things Eliza had said he would do. But he did.

Parking Meters at Courthouse and Banks Do Best Business

The five parking meters on North Main street opposite the courthouse are the most popular meters in the city, Elmer Shaw, city auditor, said today. Very few users of these meters take their full nickel's worth of parking, he said; normally several cars will use one of these meters in the hour's time a nickel pays for. The majority of users of these meters are people using the banks on the opposite corners or obtaining state sales tax stamps at the county court house, he believes.

Other highly used areas are the one hour zones on North Main and West Center streets, and second to these are the one hour zones on South Main and East Center streets. The two hour zones income runs about the same in all areas, according to Mr. Shaw. The meters do their biggest business from about 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and in the early afternoon.

Any meter on a corner or next to an alley gets plenty of users also, since such spaces are easier for motorists to park in.

The main purpose of the meters is to regulate parking, rather than to take in revenue for the city, Mr. Shaw said. The first meters, 103 of the one hour type, were installed in Marion in 1940. In 1942 the remainder of the one hour meters and all of the two hour meters were installed.

65-Cent Wage Bill Faces Senate Fight

WASHINGTON, March 14—The 65-cent minimum wage bill comes up in the senate today with the administration apparently over a farm bloc barrel.

President Truman has put out the word that he wants the measure, which would boost the minimum hourly pay of workers covered by the federal wage-hour law from 40 cents to 65 cents immediately and to 75 cents after four years.

But the bill has run into strong opposition among farm state Democrats as well as among Republicans.

Some farm state senators were making gestures of going along with the administration, but their demand was an amendment to increase farm prices.

PAULEY SHOWS PRESIDENT'S LETTER Edwin W. Pauley (seated) shows a letter he received from President Truman to his brother, Harold R.

Senator Predicts OPA's Doom in Plan To Nip Cotton Boost

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 14—An unprecedented OPA order designed to nip rising cotton clothing prices shaped up today as Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) predicted the action may cost the agency its life.

Meanwhile, the government ordered garment producers to hustle to market their supplies of scarce shirts, suits, trousers, underwear and women's stockings, both nylon and rayon.

And a Civilian Production Administration official reported an agreement which he said will "substantially increase" output of rayon hosiery, now almost as hard to find as nylons.

The OPA order, being prepared at the direction of Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles, will require a bigger down payment on cotton purchased for future delivery. The purpose is to curb speculative bidding for cotton, which Bowles said was encouraged when traders could make purchases with a very small cash deposit.

Bidding Must Stop
This sort of bidding, Bowles said, forces up textile prices and eventually the cost of clothing. And that, he added, has got to stop.

Thomas, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, predicted the Bowles directive would lead congress members from cotton, wheat and corn states "to pool their efforts to prevent any extension of OPA." Legislation is pending to continue the agency through June, 1947.

Thomas said that obviously Bowles and OPA Administrator Paul Porter "intended to keep the farmer from getting a square deal."

"This order," he told a reporter, "will stop production of a lot of agricultural stuff next year. Farmers will go to town instead and get the high wages the administration is forcing for industrial workers."

The price of raw cotton has risen about four cents a pound since last August, Bowles said that in this situation I have no choice but to employ and exhaust at the legal means at my command to stabilize prices for the commodity.

He ordered OPA to fix a down payment requirement of $30 a bale on the basis on prevailing prices for cotton. This would increase $10 a bale for every cent or fraction of a cent a pound prices jumped.

Speaker Here Calls Salesman Best Friend of Everybody

Ralph Carney Addresses 500 Retail Workers in Meeting at Masonic Temple.

An audience of approximately 500 store managers and retail salespeople heard Ralph W. Carney at a meeting last night in the Masonic Temple, picture the part "the man who sells" can play in the postwar program.

Mr. Carney is vice president and general sales manager of the Coleman Lamp and Stove Co., Wichita, Kas., and has spoken here on previous occasions.

Seller Is Best Friend

Describing the "seller" as the best friend of everybody, he called on those whose business it is to sell to "think better of yourselves than you do." A salesman, he declared, has as much right to hold his head high—more right than any man living.

He reminded his audience that no war has ever been fought with the weapons of the preceding one, pointing out that the Civil War was fought with small cannon, World War I with machine guns and explosive shells, and a few daring knights like Rickenbacker and World War II with fleets of tremendous bombers, tons of bombs and unbelievable speed.

"You can not," he declared, "fight this postwar competitive sales battle with yesterday's sales weapons nor on yesterday's high percentage of sales expense. Your competitors may have a buzz-bomb and a B-29 and you will be helpless, sitting there with a Civil War rifle in your hand." New goods, new materials, new structures and new uses will require new knowledge, new appeals, new effort.

Lists Assets

Mr. Carney listed patience, tact, broad-mindedness, generosity, good nature and a broad field of information as the assets of a successful salesman and said that only by unrelenting labor and thought are the answers found to any important human problems. He described as a parasite, a saboteur of the nation's resources and an internal enemy, the person who drains revenue from society without producing something of equivalent value in return. He declared that the happiness and the welfare of the country depends far more upon the salesmen than upon those in political power and closed his talk with the challenge: "Now we have talked enough. Let's get back to work."

The meeting was sponsored by the retail merchants board of the Marion Chamber of Commerce. Cutler McGrew, president.

Tonight Mr. Carney will be the guest speaker at the annual Foremen's fellowship dinner to be attended by members of the Foremen's club and the Manufacturers' Council. The dinner will be at 6:45 at the Masonic temple.

His first marriage took place on Oct. 16, 1939. He was inducted into the army shortly afterwards and was plaintiff in a divorce action against his first wife. The suit was heard in common pleas court on Dec. 16, 1943, and Jagers testified that when his attorney told him "their plea of not guilty."

ers sending some increases up to 24 cents an hour.

In an additional statement company officials said:

"Yesterday afternoon at a meeting with the union committee the company made an offer to increase all wage rates 15 cents an hour. It was to be effective as soon as accepted by the union. We were informed this morning that the rate had been accepted."

"Today the company called cleanup and maintenance crews to report this afternoon. We expect to be in full operation Monday morning."

The settlement resulted from negotiations held every few days over a period of the last four weeks. The agreement also established guaranteed rates for piece workers, as follows:

Bench and floor workers and moulders, $1.15 an hour; machine moulders, $1.04 an hour; coremakers, $1.15 an hour.

A company spokesman further said "that in view of the fact that average earnings of piece workers in these classifications during the last year have been in excess of $1.30 an hour the new guaranteed earnings rates do not mean any increase in wages to be paid."

Lewis May Center on Working Rules Instead of Wages

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 14 — John L. Lewis played sphinx today, but there was much conjecture that he planned to soft-pedal wage increase demands and concentrate on winning better working conditions for his soft coal miners.

At the same time, the trend of the two-day old national bituminous wage conference gave rise to hope among industry representatives that Lewis might cancel a strike April 1, despite the fact that he already has cleared the way for a general walkout.

The speculation over Lewis' wage position, left uncertain Tuesday when he proposed merely that wages be raised and hours be shortened, was touched off yesterday when United Mine Workers spokesmen devoted an entire day to explaining the UMW's demand for a miners' health and welfare fund.

The fund was one of nine general demands which Lewis placed before the conference.

Wages were not discussed at yesterday's public meeting and they are not on today's program. The UMW turned full pressure on the health and welfare fund program, stressing what it termed poor hospitalization and medical benefits now available, inadequate compensation for loss of mine safety, and other working conditions which the union wants improved under the new contract.

A spokesman for the coal operators said the industry now feels that Lewis may not resort to a coal tieup, because of several factors. They include:

1. He has emphasized that all of his mine demands are "negotiable," indicating that he is in a mood for across-the-table settlement.

2. Operators definitely are in a negotiating mood.

3. As a recently affiliated member of the AFL, Lewis would prefer to avoid a strike, in accord with the AFL's no-strike policy.

WASHINGTON BUZZES OVER TRUMAN CHOICE

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 14 — Capitol Hill got busy guessing today about who will be President Truman's selection for under secretary of the Navy now that Edwin W. Pauley has quit his up-hill fight for the post.

Mr. Truman has not made up his mind who he will name, the White House said. Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters that "no name has been decided upon." He added it was "unlikely" that Mr. Truman would be ready to announce the nomination at a news conference late today.

Four names figured immediately in the speculation: H. Stanley Hensel, recently resigned assistant secretary, and John L. Sullivan, a prominent assistant secretary; Joseph Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain; and Colgate W. Darden, former governor of Virginia.

A member of the senate naval committee said he understood Kennedy would not be interested in the post unless it would lead to full cabinet status. Another said the chance for Darden's appointment was dimmed because his friend, Senator Harry Byrd (D-Va.), has opposed Pauley during the long confirmation fight.

Pauley's decision to withdraw yesterday, it was learned, came after he had been informed that otherwise the committee was determined to vote immediately on his nomination. Administration polls were said to have shown he would have lost by at least a two-vote margin in the committee and by considerably more than that if his name had reached the senate floor.

Two Theories Advanced

From the American government's viewpoint, the critical question now is Russia's ultimate foreign policy objectives. About this two theories are voiced most frequently here.

The first is that Russia because of her uncertainty about friendship in the rest of the world is trying to surround herself with Moscow-dominated "friendly governments."

Diplomats say that if their view is correct there should be no insurmountable obstacles to an eventual understanding since the common need for security offers a meeting ground for all powers.

The second theory is that Russia may be intent upon political and territorial expansion far beyond the limits of her security interests. Authorities generally agree that should this prove to be the case, the task of coming to any kind of satisfactory arrangement with Moscow would be almost impossible unless and until Moscow modified its policy.

Churchill Is Sowing Seeds of Quarrels, Stalin Tells World

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, March 14 — Generalissimo Stalin, in a sharp personal attack, accused Winston Churchill yesterday of sowing the seeds of quarrels between wartime Allies and of trying to bring about world-rule by English-speaking nations.

"Mr. Churchill and his friends in this respect astonishingly resemble Hitler and his friends," Stalin said in an interview with a correspondent of Pravda, Communist party newspaper.

Replying to Churchill's speech of March 5 at Fulton, Mo., in which the former British prime minister advocated a virtual American — British military alliance, Stalin said:

"Hitler began inciting war by proclaiming the race theory and declaring that only German speaking people were a superior nation."

"Mr. Churchill and his friends in England and the United States present nations not speaking the English language with a sort of ultimatum: recognize our domination voluntarily and then everything will be in order—if not, then war is inevitable."

"However, nations shed blood during five years of severe war for freedom and independence not in order to change the domination of Hitlerites for the domination of Churchillites. This is why it is wholly probable that nations not speaking English — and together with this nation making a large majority of the world population — do not agree to enter a new slavery."

Stalin's comments were broadcast throughout the world by the Moscow radio.

British Rap Stalin, Call for Parley

By The Associated Press
LONDON, March 14 — British newspapers criticized Generalissimo Stalin today for his attack on Winston Churchill and called for a Big Three meeting soon to attempt to improve relations between Russia and her two wartime allies.

A foreign office spokesman said there would be no official comment on Stalin's statements, since Churchill has no status in the government. Official circles indicated that the former prime minister would be left to speak for himself. He is scheduled to broadcast a speech of "world importance" from New York City tomorrow night, authoritative sources there said.

Bevin Warns Reds of Forced Agreement

By The Associated Press
LONDON, March 14 — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin declared today Britain would "regret" any settlement between Russia and Iran which "appeared to be extracted" from the Tehran government under duress while Soviet forces are still occupying the country.

Bevin told the house of commons that despite the continued presence of Soviet troops in Iran the British government had taken no decision to put British troops back in the troubled area.

"Nor," he added, "have his majesty's government taken any steps to open negotiations with the Iranian government for the return of British troops."

Church Night Event Held at Epworth

The second in a series of church night events at Epworth Methodist church was held Wednesday night with the church basement dining room filled for dinner and a program. The program was on a youth emphasis theme with young people of the church taking part, and a talk by a youth leader. Dinner was served by members of the W.C.S.S.

John Clark offered prayer and the Sunday school orchestra played. A letter from Pvt. John Bryans, stationed in Utah, formerly an active member of the church, was read by Miss Margaret Huffman. Paul Dasher was teammaster. Miss Joyce Bohrer led group singing, and Carolyn Burdell played the piano. Devotions on Lent were by Dr. S. M. Ingram, pastor, who spoke on a need for self-searching and character examination by each individual in this period before Easter for self-improvement for better and more worthwhile living. Ralph Hurr talked on "The Place of Youth in the Church," asking adults present to show a sympathetic attitude toward the problems of young people and to cooperate and share activities with them.

A one-act play, "We Call It Freedom," by Wilson, with a theme of justice and fair treatment for all races and ranks of people, was presented by Miss Mary Jo Stafford, Mrs. Irene Moore, Mrs. Maxine Sluochomb and Miss Evelyn Hazen. John Scheffler and Richard Indoe arranged a stage setting.

PLANNED CHURCH ACTION
He said Hitler planned to separate the church from politics. He conceded that a number of clergymen, including Rev. Martin Niemöller, had been sent to concentration camps but insisted that some of them made "political speeches in churches criticizing the leaders of the party." In occupied areas, priests often were involved in acts hostile to the occupation forces.

Admitting that Nazis intended to eliminate Jews from public life, Goering declared anti-Semitism was strong in Germany before the party was born.

He said the Nazis crushed the trade unions because "they agreed with the left to such an extent they did not fit into our state. I am convinced that only we gave the German worker real freedom."

CLUBHOUSE PLANS DISCUSSED BY GROUP

Project Taken Up at Meeting of Harness Race Club.

Plans for construction of a modern clubhouse at the fair-ground were discussed Wednesday night at Hotel Harding at a dinner meeting of the Marion Harness club, a group composed of harness racing devotees. Earlier tentative plans for the clubhouse had been shelved when it was thought a shortage of building materials would delay construction indefinitely.

Newer estimates of the materials situation make it seem possible that the clubhouse can be built this year. In conjunction with the plans for the clubhouse, preliminary outlines for a membership drive to be held in the near future were discussed.

Members heard a report on improving and reconditioning the inner cinder track at the fair-ground where horses can be jogged and exercised when bad weather prevents use of the regular track. Work on this is now in progress. The first race will be held in May.

Following the business meeting the 45 members and guests present heard anecdotes on harness racing incidents familiar to various guests.

NAZIS

four-engine bombers, Goering said.

The Luftwaffe was developing jet aircraft even before the war, he said, adding proudly, "I am solely responsible for rearmament of the air force in every way."

Accepts Responsibility
Goering also accepted "full and complete responsibility" for all anti-Jewish economic decrees which bore his signature. He told the court that although he received many written and verbal orders from Hitler to carry out anti-Jewish laws, he did "not propose in any way to hide behind the fuhrer."

Turning to the German departure from the League of Nations and her institution of rearmament, Goering told the tribunal:

"When it was clear that other powers were unwilling to disarm and that a power in the east—Russia—was carrying out unheard-of rearmament, it became necessary for us to rearm in the interests of the security of the Reich."

Discussing abandonment of the Versailles treaty, he argued that "all complaints about German minorities met with indifference or only well meant advice."

"Regrets" Purge
Goering also said he "deeply regretted" the assassination in the Nazi party blood purge of "people who had nothing at all to do with the (Capt. Ernst) Rohm revolt."

Goering said the killing of Gen. Kurt von Schleicher, former German chancellor, and his wife in June 1934 was a sad accident.

Goering said Von Schleicher reached for a pistol, "possibly to kill himself," and two agents who had come to arrest him, raised their weapons.

Goering defended the Nazi program of blind obedience to the fuhrer with the contention: "The Catholic church is still relying on the leadership principle. Russia too could not have survived without it and could not have met the great difficulties of this war."

He bristled when questioned about the "master race," declaring "you would never find that term in my writings or speeches. In my view if you are a master you don't have to emphasize it."

Planned Church Action
He said Hitler planned to separate the church from politics.

He conceded that a number of clergymen, including Rev. Martin Niemöller, had been sent to concentration camps but insisted that some of them made "political speeches in churches criticizing the leaders of the party." In occupied areas, priests often were involved in acts hostile to the occupation forces.

Admitting that Nazis intended to eliminate Jews from public life, Goering declared anti-Semitism was strong in Germany before the party was born.

He said the Nazis crushed the trade unions because "they agreed with the left to such an extent they did not fit into our state. I am convinced that only we gave the German worker real freedom."

Back-To-Work Vote Asked at Timken; NLRB Gets Charge

By The Associated Press
CANTON, O., March 14 — workers' appeal for a vote whether to return to their jobs and the filing of charges with the NLRB and a statement from President Philip Murray today featured the 33-day Timken strike.

The men who said they were members of the CIO-United Steel workers union, signed a petition asking for a mass meeting for the purpose of taking a secret vote to determine if the strikers were willing to return to work with negotiations continue.

John J. Lennon, spokesman for the group, said they represented four committees and reflected the feelings of all Timken workers.

Finis Reynolds, president of the Canton local, retorted that the petition was company-instigated and part of a management plan to break the union. "We will not be swayed with cheap anti-union maneuvers," he added.

Some 14,000 workers have been idled by the strike in Timken plants at Canton, Wooster, Columbus, Mount Vernon, New Falls and Zanesville.

Murray, in a statement, said the union complaint filed with the NLRB in Cleveland, accused the company of "falsely" representing that the union violated its contract in striking, with attacking and vilifying union leaders, and was trying to attract strikebreakers through newspaper advertisements.

The union complaint also charged that Timken had attempted to stimulate "violence" by offering rewards for conviction of persons engaged in violence.

Swiss Miss Misses Guess on Washington

By The Associated Press
VISP. SWITZERLAND — The editor of the local newspaper, the Walliser Bot, has a theory that Americans know more about Switzerland's hero, William Tell, than the Swiss know about George Washington. To prove his point the editor asked fellow-townsmen, "Who was George Washington?" Here were some of the answers as reported in the newspaper: A store proprietor: "Let's see, seems to me I've heard that name. Oh, yes, that was the town where Roosevelt lived." A railway employee: "He was President of the United States. He was very famous, but I can't recall just why. Didn't he build the Panama Canal?" A school teacher: "Only two weeks ago my pupils were required to write a composition on 'The War of Independence and its Influence Upon European History.' My dear fellow, I know all about the man." A girl who had been running after American furloughmen: "Wasn't he a jazz-band director?" A politician: "George Washington—why that's the chap who fought against slavery. He freed America from the British yoke and was one of the spiritual leaders of the French revolution. Finally he was assassinated in a theater."

MONTE CASSINO ABBEY RUINS—The tomb of St. Benedict, founder of the Abbey, and his twin sister, St. Scholastica, is housed in this temporary structure (center) amid the monastery ruins atop Monte Cassino in Italy. The Abbey was leveled by Allied bombings two years ago, in March, 1944, to dislodge German troops who had been using the building as a lookout post. Except for a few cracks, the tomb is undamaged. # Uncle Sam Cops Glove Market

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

There's no longer any need to yearn for those once cherished French gloves. Your own Uncle Sam is now in a position to furnish you with the finest leather gloves in the world.

The experience and research gained in supplying 200 million pairs of gloves to the armed forces during the war has equipped U. S. manufacturers with the greatest "know how" in the history of glove making.

During the war American tanners of glove leather developed new tanning methods far superior to any used in Europe, says the National Association of Leather Glove Manufacturers, adding that some of these methods are now being introduced in France in an attempt to better their products up to the American par.

An outstanding achievement of American manufacturers is the production of washable leathers, generally unavailable in Europe, and a handling of color unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

America expects little serious competition for some time from glove manufacturers of Germany, France and Czechoslovakia, principal sources of imported gloves before the war. Russia is said to be taking the entire German glove output at present, France is beset with labor trouble, and Czechoslovakia lacks basic materials.

You'll be able to buy a fair supply of American-made leather gloves this spring, says the association, and by fall the supply should be back to normal.

PASTORS MEET AT BUTYRUS First church, Dr. C. B. Ketchen, president of Mount Union college, Alliance, and Dr. A. I. Cox of Akron, conference director of religious education, were speakers.

Gideons Hear Talk by Religious Director

Miss Lydia Ebel, instructor of weekday religious education in the public schools, was the guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the Gideons, held Tuesday at Hotel Harding. Miss Ebel spoke of various phases of the religious education program which challenge character building. In speaking of the advantages of week-day training, she said, "Children are beginning to realize that religion is not a mere Sunday affair. Religious education gives understanding and light to the child's life." She cited various illustrations to show how the children have gained a better understanding of racial, religious, and denominational differences.

Two vocal numbers were presented by a girls' trio, composed of Louise Caldwell, Patricia Falor, and Grace Cyders. Their selections were "On the Jericho Road," and "Christ Is Not a Disappointment." Union singing was led by Howard Orr. Clifford Ward, chaplain, was in charge of a devotional service.

Harry Crowner, president, was in charge of the meeting.

During the Auxiliary meeting, Mrs. Cicero Zachman conducted a questionnaire on Bible knowledge.

Guests present were Misses Caldwell, Falor and Cyders, Miss Esther Hanawalt, Charles Chappell and Ralph Good.

Gen. Clark Hints He Wants Austria Freed of Troops

by DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

VIENNA, March 14—Your correspondent has come away from a highly interesting but informal conversation with General Mark Clark, American commander in chief of Austria, with the distinct impression that he would like to see all the Allied forces of occupation—Russian, British, French and American—withdrawn from this country by next fall and the administration turned over to the Austrian government.

As a matter of fact, I understand that there is before the Allied council a proposal for a withdrawal. However, on one point I've interpreted the general's feeling correctly, he is indulging in wish rather than any strong expectation that such a withdrawal may take place.

While the British, French and Americans might be prepared to pull out under a four-power agreement, I've found no indication that the Russians would subscribe to any such procedure at an early date. The signs have been that the Russians figure a long period of control in Austria to be necessary. Certainly there will be no withdrawal unless all four participate.

Has Wide Knowledge

I found General Clark viewing the Austrian position from a horse-sense standpoint based on a wide knowledge of the whole European problem.

We had our chat in his private office at the American headquarters and he promptly robbed it of any formality by coming out from behind his big desk to shake hands in a friendly fashion and then leading me across the room to some easy chairs.

The picture wouldn't be complete if I didn't report that the general's constant companion, his cocker spaniel "Pal," made himself a member of the party by jumping to his master's knees to be petted. Clark grinned and introduced "Pal" with the remark that the last letter his wife wrote asked if "Pal" was getting his baths. Having heard that Mrs. Clark was coming to Austria, I asked when she was arriving, and the general's grin broadened as he opined she would be among the first contingent of soldiers' wives to arrive in this zone next month.

Sees Great Strain

I've referred to General Clark's horse-sense and humanitarian outlook. I believe one of his main reasons for wanting to see Austria turned back to its own government as soon as feasible is that the military occupation is a terrific financial strain on the little country and will bleed it white if long continued.

Austria, of course, hasn't been placed by the Allies in the category of Hitlerite Germany as a menace to peace. Austria was overrun by the Nazi dictator, and so was perhaps more sinned against than sinning, although that doesn't absolve her from blame. However, those are points I didn't discuss with General Clark and are my own observations.

2,700 Acre Farm Now Chicken Ranch

By The Associated Press

PULASKI, Tenn.—The 68-stall barn at the old Milky Way farm near here, which once housed some of the country's top thoroughbred horses, now is the home of 20,000 chickens.

Albert Noe Jr., bought the famous 2,700-acre farm last year from the late Mrs. Ethel Mars and decided to solve the meat shortage by raising chickens for use in his five hotels. He processes 300 per day at the farm, now named the Albert Noe Farm.

He doesn't confine his farm program to chicken-raising, however. He has a few Tennessee walking horses and has poured several thousand dollars into a dairy and beef cattle herd.

KENT CONTRACT SET

Telephone Brings Voice from "Dead"

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J.—City Fireman George W. Vetter, Jr., heard a voice on the telephone say cheerily, "Hello, George Old Pal, how are ya?"

George's hands shook and he was speechless. The voice was that of Felix Martinez, a buddy whom Vetter himself had listed as dead in his duties as a sergeant in a French forest in August, 1944.

Martinez, a Mt. Vernon, N. Y., resident, assured Vetter he was very much alive even though a hand grenade had exploded in front of him in full sight of his company. He had not returned that night in France, but was rescued by another outfit.

Price Relief Rights Explained by WSB

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, March 14.—Employers granting wage increases can protect future rights to seek price relief by filing a notice of intent with the wage stabilization board, the regional WSB office said today.

Regional Chairman George Maxwell reported a new regulation takes into account employers who may be uncertain as to later needs for price relief as a result of pay raises granted.

Although they have no present intention of using the wage increases as a basis of application to the OPA, employers now can protect their rights to apply for higher prices by filing with the WSB within 30 days a notice describing the pay raise, Maxwell said.

The chairman, whose region includes Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, added that employers filing such notices must obtain WSB approval of the raises before asking the OPA for price relief.

INVENTS "EYE." The ability to see objects in the dark up to distance of 10 to 15 miles has been made possible through the invention of the Cy project laboratory at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. The discovery, called super-conducting bolometer, was discovered over a period of four years by a chemical group headed by Dr. H. Andrews, above. It is an infra-red eye which permits the observer to see without his own position being detected. The bolometer has a peace-time utility that ranges from a fire alarm to a weapon against cancer.

Noted Organist To Give Tuesday Night Concert for Galion Home Town Audience

Special to The Star
GALION, March 14.—One of Galion's famed sons will return Tuesday evening, March 19 to present a concert for his home town folk. He is Arthur Poister, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Poister of Galion, now professor of organ at Oberlin Conservatory at Oberlin.

Acclaimed in cities where he has appeared in concert, Poister has not played in Galion for several years. His program will be given at Senior High school auditorium at 8:15 p. m., sponsored by the Dorcas society of First Reformed church.

Poister started his musical career with piano lessons by Miss Bessie Todd, a Galion teacher who has watched his progress with great pride. He was once organist at the First Reformed church. He began serious organ study with Edwin Arthur Kraft at Trinity Cathedral, Cleveland. From 1920 to 1923 he was organist at the First Congregational church, Sioux City, Ia. In 1926 he passed the associate examination of the American Guild of Organists.

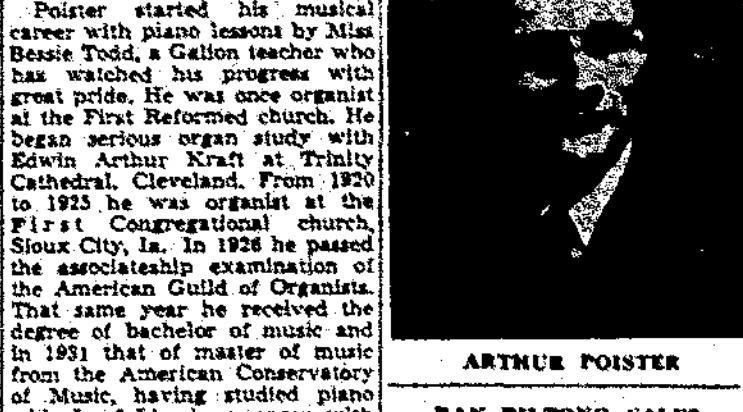

That same year he received the degree of bachelor of music and in 1931 that of master of music from the American Conservatory of Music, having studied piano with Josef Lhevinne, organ with Wilhelm Middelschulte, and theory with Leo Sowerby and Arthur Olaf Anderson. After two years of study with Marcel Dupre in Paris, in 1928 he was appointed professor of organ at the University of Redlands, Calif.

In 1933 he again traveled abroad and studied. In 1937 he became head of the organ department at the University of Minnesota and in 1938 he accepted the post of professor of organ at Oberlin Conservatory of Music.

He has appeared in many recitals on the Pacific coast and has made three eastern tours.

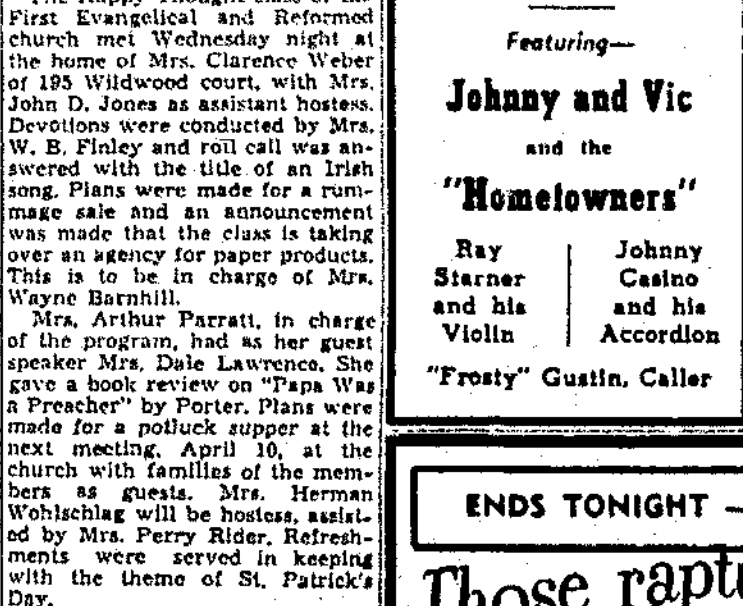

His program in Galion includes compositions of Purcell, d'Aquin, Bach, Brahms, Mozart, Schubert, Pecters and Dupre.

In Marion, Mrs. H. K. Mouser of 141 South Prospect street has tickets for this concert.

CLASS GIVES PROGRAM
The Happy Thought class of the First Evangelical and Reformed church met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Clarence Weber of 195 Woodwood court, with Mrs. John D. Jones as assistant hostess. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. W. B. Finley and roll call was answered with the title of an Irish song. Plans were made for a rummage sale and an announcement was made that the class is taking over an agency for paper products. This is to be in charge of Mrs. Wayne Barnhill.

Mrs. Arthur Parratt, in charge of the program, had at her guest speaker Mrs. Dule Lawrence. She gave a book review on "Papa Was a Preacher" by Porter. Plans were made for a potluck supper at the next meeting, April 10, at the church with families of the members as guests. Mrs. Herman Wohlischlag will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. Perry Rider. Refreshments were served in keeping with the theme of St. Patrick's Day.

THEN SAID THE GOVERNOR
RALEIGH, N. C.—North Carolina's Number One car was given a parking ticket the other day in Charlotte. Patrolman Harold Minges, driver for Gov. Cherry, parked the limousine in front of a hotel while "the boss" went inside. Along came a cop with a parking ticket that added up to a one-dollar fine. Since then Minges has been sent dollars and offers of dollars from several loyal partisans — from "a good Hickory Democrat," from Mayor H. H. Baxter and from Police Chief Walter Anderson of Charlotte.

This is the time to turn to winter squash. There is considerable food value in winter squashes, more so than the summer varieties. Its most important contribution to the diet is vitamin A. It ranks with carrots and corn on the list of vegetables that are rich in this food constituent.

Draper Wins with Fast KO, Officials Halt Four Matches

LaRue's Allen Stages Valiant Defense but Takes Count; Paperweights Dominate Semi-final Card.

By ART MYERS

Semi-finals in the Golden Gloves AAU district tournament were run off last night at the armory before another capacity crowd. Thirteen bouts were staged, the sponsors being handicapped by the failure of about 10 fighters from Galion and Springfield to show up. Finals are booked for Friday night under the sponsorship of the Y's Men's club. The crowd was estimated at 750.

Although seven of the bouts were in the paperweight class, six fights ranging from flyweight to welterweight gave the crowd plenty to yell about. Jack Draper of Marion picked up right where he left off Monday night. Draper, a welterweight, got tougher in each round in his fight with James Gains Monday and last night he was plenty tough in his fight with Donald Allen of LaRue. Draper demonstrated a hefty wallop before the bout was many seconds old. Working steadily on Allen's mid-section, he dropped him for a count of eight about halfway in the first round. Just before the round ended he put him down again with blows to the stomach.

Saved by Bell

Allen looked in no shape to get up but the bell intervened. Suddenly switching to the head at the start of the second, Draper tagged Allen with a jolting right to the jaw that drove him against the ropes. Draper followed and punched him against the ropes with right and left hooks to the stomach and Allen went down hard. He got up on one knee at the count of five, but toppled over and out before he could rise to his feet. It was a clean K.O. for Draper.

Shortest fight was between Harold Wails of Marion, 113 pounds, and George Spinks of Marion, 114 pounds. Wails took a decision in the opening session of the tournament Monday night but last night he made it a technical knockout in about 30 seconds of the first round. It was a short and simple story. Wails got Spinks in a corner quickly and slugged him into submission. The referee stopped the fight, awarding Wails a T.K.O.

Crowd Sees Sluggest

Willard Light of Bucyrus and Bud Craig of Delaware gave the crowd a slugfest with everything but the water bucket thrown in, in their fight in the lightweight division. Both boys were in wonderful shape, and started slugging at the opening bell and kept it up. If either had been more accurate it is doubtful the bout would have gone the limit, but many blows went wild. Twice in the second round the boys went down together during clinches. Once they fell through the ropes onto the apron of the ring. Craig made a strong finish, landing some hard ones to the head, but Light piled

ABC'S $260,000 PIN MEET OPENS TONIGHT

30,000 Bowlers Due To Compete in Revived Event.

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 14—Two veteran bowlers, 82-year-old Louis Stein, and Peter Schultz, will be in the spotlight tonight when the American Bowling Congress opens its 43rd annual world championship tournament in Buffalo's 74th armory.

Stein and Schultz are scheduled to bowl together with New York City's Fidelia club on the second 40-team shift following ceremonies inaugurating the 82-day tourney. The meet is being resumed after a three-year wartime lapse.

Only living charter member of the ABC, Stein was present at the founding meeting on Sept. 9, 1895 and was responsible for adoption of the present scoring system, which recognizes 300 as the perfect game. Previously, 200 was the highest possible score.

Tonight's firing squad will be mild compared to that later in the tournament, most compact in history. Singles and doubles will get under way tomorrow, and the timber will really fly Saturday, when bowling is scheduled from eight in the morning until past midnight.

Approximately 30,000 bowlers will compete during the meet for $260,000 in prize money.

about, scoring a T.K.O. over William Sporre of Marion, at 57 pounds. Hunt had a hard punch for such a little fellow and seldom wasted it. He had a good, sharp left jab and a fast right hook. He knocked Sporre down in the second round and in the last round Dr. A. J. "Doc" Wagner, the referee, had to stop the bout.

Eugene Hunt, 83 pounds, also showed good training and a nice style but ran into a very good boy in Harold Knapp of Marion, an 88 pounder. Knapp started slowly, and the first round found Hunt's fast left jab in his face most of the time. In the second round, Knapp began to connect with rights and lefts and in the final round gave a nice exhibition of boxing. Both boys are fine paperweights, but the decision went to Knapp by a shade.

Other paperweight bouts offered plenty of excitement too. Two were stopped by the referee. In a bout between Gene Coulson of Morral, a 77 pounder, and Roger Butler of Marion, an 86 pounder, Coulson was awarded a technical knockout when Butler was unable to come out for the third round. Kenny Chevalier of Marion, at 98 pounds scored a T.K.O. against Joe Davis of Marion at 91 pounds. Davis started the bout strongly but was a smaller boy and unable to match his opponent in height, weight or reach. He kept punching but got the worst of it as the fight wore on and referee Wagner stopped the bout in the last round.

Has Baseball Punch

A feature of the Richard Dawson-Bob Walters bout, both Marion paperweights, was the gyrations performed by young Walters before he let a right go. He wound up on some occasions like a big league pitcher getting ready to let go with a high, hard one. But he landed often enough to take the decision.

Robert Millington, 77 pounds, scored a clean cut decision over Homer Glenn, 80 pounds, both of Marion. Millington showed a good boxing style and had no trouble at any time in handling his opponent.

In the final bout Robert Lowry, 70 pounds and Eugene Monroe, 64 pounds, both of Marion, gave the crowd an action filled fight. Lowry, larger and heavier, battered Monroe throughout, but Monroe took it gamely and refused to quit. Lowry landed plenty of straight, clean punches to take a unanimous decision.

3 Fights Scheduled Tonight at Armory

Ali Pasha and Indio Yaqui will wrestle a no holds barred bout in one of the two 90 minute main events tonight at the armory while Steve Nenoff and Whitey Walburg will fight the other bout. At 8:30 a 10 minute tag team preliminary match will pit the team of Bob Rose and Dorman Knapp against Kenny Saunders and Howard Edington.

JOE TURNS WOODCHOPPER. Joe Louis tries hand at wood chopping after arrival in West Baden, Ind., to start training for Billy Conn bout June 9. It will be Joe's first fight in defense of heavyweight boxing title since the war. (A.P. Wirephoto.)

Mid-State League Admits Sunbury, Sets Up Schedule

Loop Now Has Five Entries; Officers Relected at Dinner Meeting Ending First Year.

Sunbury High school was admitted to the Mid-State football and basketball league at a dinner meeting of the Mid-State Athletic association last night at Hotel Harding as the league wound up its first year of existence.

Admission of Sunbury brings the list of Mid-State schools to five—Marion St. Mary, Marysville, Richwood, Mt. Gilead and Sunbury.

Football and basketball schedules for the coming seasons were drawn up for league play and approved and the same slate of officers who served in the league's first year were reelected. They are: G. L. Kingsmore of Marysville, president, R. Fetter of Richwood, vice president, and D. B. Noble of Mt. Gilead, secretary-treasurer. The fall meeting of the association was set for Sept. 10 and the league coaches announced their selection of the all-league basketball team for the season just past. Marysville, already holder of the league trophy for football, was awarded the league trophy for basketball as a result of their first place finish this season. Robert Mason of WMRN discussed the football and basketball trophies which the radio station is setting up. They are three year trophies and when one team has won a trophy for the third time, not necessarily consecutive, it becomes a permanent possession. Marysville has one win credit toward that trophy in both sports.

The schedule adopted is:

"Indian Here Tonight"

It's a rematch between Indio Yaqui and Ali Pasha tonight at the Marion Armory with no disqualifications. These two met several weeks ago and Yaqui won over a disqualification when Pasha put his sleeper hold on the Indian outside the ropes. Tonight they meet again and Sammy Vangier, popular grappler here some years ago will act as referee. The other thirty minute match looks very good for Whitey Walburg is slated to meet the tough Bulgarian, Steve Nenoff. Both these matches are for the best two out of three falls. A one fall tag team match between the team of Dorman Knapp and Bob Rose against the team of Howard Edington and Kenny Saunders will start the show at 8:30. Call 2745 after six for seats. ## B-G Cagers Favored To Win Tonight's Opener in Garden

Ohioans Slated To Spill Rhode Island; OSU To Enter NCAA Battle Next Week.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 14—The Bowling Green Falcons of Ohio and the St. John's Redmen of Brooklyn are favored to win tonight's opening games in the National Invitation tourney at Madison Square Garden, one of the climaxes to the college basketball season.

A sellout crowd of more than 18,000 is expected to be on hand at 8 p. m. (EST) when the Falcons take the floor against the high-scoring Rhode Island State Rams in the first game of the double-header. St. John's is paired against the West Virginia Mountaineers in the second game at 10 p. m.

The twin bill inaugurates a series of seven doubleheaders to be played during the next 12 days. On Saturday, Kentucky meets Arizona and Syracuse battles Muhlenberg in the remaining first round games of the invitation tourney. On Monday the semi-finals are scheduled with the championship final due on Wednesday. A week from today the eastern NCAA eliminations start between Ohio State, Harvard, North Carolina and New York university.

Bowling Green, runner-up to DePaul in last year's final, is favored by 11 points over Rhode Island. The Falcons have won 27 of 31 games and can boast of having inflicted one of the two defeats the Oklahoma Aggies, NCAA champs, have suffered this season. The Rhodies have a won-lost record of 19-2.

Unseeded St. John's, beaten five times during the season by Western Michigan, Kentucky, Syracuse, Temple and NYU, is favored by four points over West Virginia, defeated only by Temple and the Navy in 24 starts.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 14—Three husky young Detroit Tigers outfielders, who went through the war without an ache or pain had to come to Florida to fall apart. Barney McCoskey, the team's star pre-war centerfielder, has a pulled hip muscle that might keep him out of uniform for several more weeks. Dick Wakeland pulled something loose in his groin when he fell making a play in left field the other day. Pat Mullin, the rightfielder who hit around .340 before he was injured in 1941, is out of action with a pulled leg muscle.

Mid-State All-Stars Selected

The Mid-State basketball association announced selection of the "All-State" basketball team and aggressive competition in the Class B. The team includes Bob Wintersteller, St. Mary; Frank Diehl, Marysville; Nick Wall, Richmond; Leo Robinson, Marysville; Tom Moran, St. Mary.

Tom Moran was selected unanimously by the vote for the fifth year. He averaged 12 points a game for the season. Nick Wall of Richmond was the only veteran Coach Fetter had returning from his outstanding team of last season. Nick played in only five games in the league because of a sprained ankle, but finished second in the scoring. He averaged 18.6 points a game. Nick set an all-time county record for Union county this season as he scored 44 points in a game with York High School. He is tall, rugged and a deceptive fencer.

All Mid-State League Basketball Team

FIRST TEAM	SECOND TEAM
Bob Wintersteller, St. Mary	Dean Scheiderer, Marysville
Frank Diehl, Marysville	Don Tennent, Mt. Gilead
Nick Wall, Richmond	Bob Lancaster, Mt. Gilead
Leo Robinson, Marysville	Bob Irvin, St. Mary
Tom Moran, St. Mary	John Cheney, Richmond

The backbone of the championship Marysville team was little wirey Leo Robinson. A fine floorman, good shot from any place on the floor and an aggressive defensive player, Robinson led the league in scoring with a total of 87 points, for an average of 14.5 points per game.

Moran, the fifth member of the team, was outstanding on defense. He was steady, not sensational, but always dependable. He is the type of player that comes through in the pinches. He scored 40 points in the league season.

All team members but Robinson are seniors.

SANTIAGO, CHILE.—Young Chileans are outdoing themselves these days in a sustained program of physical culture in search of the coveted government insignia proclaiming them "physically apt."

Things will soon reach the point, says the program's enthusiastic sponsors, where a young blade won't have a chance with his sword if he can't produce the badge across his sweater front or in the lapel of his Sunday coat denoting him a genuine government approved all-round Chilean athlete.

Defeat Roecker Squad in Playoff; Scorers Listed.
Isaly Dairy, playing their best game of the year, won the second place trophy in the "Y" Independent league last night. There was no doubt as to who had the better ball team on the floor last night as Isaly's went out at the start and got a lead. It was the veteran guard Williams and rookie Harbolt for Isaly's who proved to be the sparkplugs. Between these two boys, who were definitely on, the eventual winners were able to build a good sized first half margin. Ray Smith of Roecker's kept his team in the game by his heavy scoring in the second half.

Regional Cage Tournament Battles Set To Start Tonight

Youngstown and Bowling Green Meets First To Open; Others Begin Friday.
By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Sports Writer
The next to last act of the 1946 Ohio gym jamboree — otherwise known as the state high school basketball tournament — opens tonight at Youngstown and Bowling Green.

When the final gun fires four teams will move to the sidelines to join more than 1,100 others which started the battle a month ago for the Class A and Class B state handout championships. That will leave 12 still in the running for the Class B title and 18 still hopeful for the Class A title which Bellevue already has relinquished.

All four games tonight will be in the Class B division. One of three undefeated teams in Class B will swing into action tonight, Waynesburg, which has won 24 ball games in a row, takes on North Canton at Youngstown. North Canton has won 21 of 27.

In the other game at Youngstown, the 1944 state champion, Akron Ellet, meets Adena. Ellet has won 16 of 20 and Adena has topped 18 of 25.

Adena, however, has one of the most unusual records in tournament history. It has allowed its journey for an average of 56 points a game but still is in the running for the title. Its offensive average is 60 points a game, second only to Glenford which has poured in points at the rate of 73 a contest.

RUGH FULLERTON Jr.
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 14.—It's a sign of spring when Cliff good drops in to leave a few of "Who's Who in Baseball" and Ray Dumont checks in his "Non-Professional Baseball."

Cliff admits he has the biggest task in years to do on "Who's Who in Baseball." First he had to dig out a lot of dozens of returning men and reinstate them to men—which jumped to a high of 96 pages as a result there were athletes "retired" then changed their names and those who really did.

For instance the name of Walter is missing for the time since 1927. Joe Cronin was dropped along with Johnson and Larry French Tommy Bridges, both of had only a few games to reach the mark of 200 pitcher-victories. Newcomers in Dave "Boo" Ferriss, Hal Marino Pieretti, Al diest, Lambert "Dutch" and Goodie Rosen.

There's another newcomer, whose inclusion makes Cliff blush a little—none other than dangerous Danny Gardella....

Cliff isn't ready to recognize the Mexican league as a major loop.

Semi-Pro Stuff

Although Dumont calls his outfit "non-professional" his 1945 tournament at Wichita was so loaded with professionals that they picked two all-star teams.

The second, listed as "best prospects for organized ball" included Lou Kretlow, of the champion Enid, Okla., Army team, who now is on the Detroit Tigers' roster, and Grady Halton of the Greensboro, N. C., team, who collected something like $25,000 for signing with Cincinnati. They may be worth watching this year.

Five Now Face Charges in Basketball Melee.

By The Associated Press
WAVERLY, O., March 14.—Three men were arrested yesterday and ordered held for Pike county authorities in connection with a riot that followed the Class B sectional high school basketball tournament game here last Saturday night, in which Wheelersburg defeated New Boston, 36-28, and won the chance to try in the regionals.

They are Robert Weaver of New Boston and Russell Bowen of near Minford, both charged with assault and battery and Edwin Baker of New Boston, charged with causing a disturbance, refusal to disperse and inciting fights.

The arrest of the trio brought the total to five facing charges as a result of the spectators' melee. Sheriff Jesse H. Foster said the men probably would be arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Earl D. Parker here Friday.

Chile Uses Novel Plan to Boost Athletics

By JOSE M. GODOY
Associated Press Newsfeatures

SANTIAGO, CHILE.—Young Chileans are outdoing themselves these days in a sustained program of physical culture in search of the coveted government insignia proclaiming them "physically apt."

Things will soon reach the point, says the program's enthusiastic sponsors, where a young blade won't have a chance with his sword if he can't produce the badge across his sweater front or in the lapel of his Sunday coat denoting him a genuine government approved all-round Chilean athlete.

The other lads, says the Direction of Information and Culture, just won't be in the running when it comes to getting a girl for the Plaza promenades.

Russia Can Tap Vast Sources Power to Run New Program

March 14.—To make their new and improved system of transportation, the Russians devote major attention to production of power—coal, oil and gas. Perhaps, on the list of construction at Zaporozhne dam. There the huge power station and power station are being built during the war. The Germans were pushed out of the region early in 1944. The first power station will be a hydroelectric station with a capacity of 1,000,000 kilowatts. Engineers at the location, and new building is way on all sections. Expeditions are afoot in many corners of the country exploring the possibilities of new mines—oil, gas, coal, iron, copper, etc. The USSR needs them for its present mines. It is possible to achieve the 500,000,000 annual mark, it is believed.

One of the best pieces of news in the coal field is the fact that in 1945 miners of the rich Donets basin reached their prewar output in an important section of mines ravaged by the invaders.

Russians expect that by 1950 their electric power potential generally will be doubled. More stations are to be built to bring this about.

The Soviets have a hard battle to achieve this doubling by 1950. In addition to normal obstacles, a big program of education among the workers who man these stations must be carried out.

"A surplus of workers does not help," Engineer A. A. Pavlenko said, "but sometimes really interferes with work at the power stations. Among other things, we have many electric stations with one and one-half to three times more service personnel for fixed kilowatt of power than the best stations in America."

To achieve the goal set by Stalin, the USSR has already undergone the rearing of its massive coal industry, dividing it into western and eastern sections, with hard-driving directors at the top of each section. Formerly the coal industry was under the in-

So much for electricity. What about coal?

To achieve the goal set by Stalin, the USSR has already undergone the rearing of its massive coal industry, dividing it into western and eastern sections, with hard-driving directors at the top of each section. Formerly the coal industry was under the influence of the interior department, but is now under its own command. Stalin's goal of an annual output of 500,000,000 tons a year would put Russia on par with the United States.

Expeditions are afoot in many corners of the country exploring the possibilities of new mines—oil, gas, coal, iron, copper, etc. The USSR needs them for its present mines. It is possible to achieve the 500,000,000 annual mark, it is believed.

One of the best pieces of news in the coal field is the fact that in 1945 miners of the rich Donets basin reached their prewar output in an important section of mines ravaged by the invaders.

See Peak Output
With restoration ahead of schedule and new mines being built at Zaporozhne below the dam to relieve the burden of traffic across its top and another at Dnepropetrovsk close by. This, too, will be devoted to automobile and truck traffic generally local.

Russians expect that by 1950 their electric power potential generally will be doubled. More stations are to be built to bring this about.

The Soviets have a hard battle to achieve this doubling by 1950. In addition to normal obstacles, a big program of education among the workers who man these stations must be carried out.

"A surplus of workers does not help," Engineer A. A. Pavlenko said, "but sometimes really interferes with work at the power stations. Among other things, we have many electric stations with one and one-half to three times more service personnel for fixed kilowatt of power than the best stations in America."

America Is Standard
"America! America! America!" one gets this time and again here as a measure of comparison. As a goal to reach and surpass! Persons abroad who looked cynical on the Red army's possibilities at the beginning of the war should not repeat the same mistake when reading these plans of the Russian people in construction the same driving force which hurled the German war machine from the USSR and battered its way into Berlin is behind the spirit of these victories in industry.

So much for electricity. What about coal?

To achieve the goal set by Stalin, the USSR has already undergone the rearing of its massive coal industry, dividing it into western and eastern sections, with hard-driving directors at the top of each section. Formerly the coal industry was under the in-

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THE telephone was ringing as I closed the door upon Olga, and I went rapidly to it and took down the receiver, hearing, as I expected, the voice of my young son, Junior.

"Hiya, Mums?" he queried, then added from the safe anonymity of a coin telephone, "Is it safe for us to come back?"

"Come up at once," I told him, and put down the receiver before he could add any more persiflage.

I spent the next few minutes in seeing to it that the apartment was in order, and when the boys came in, motioned them to be quiet while I went to the telephone and called the package room.

"Chester?" I said, when he answered, and at his affirmative, "Yes, Mrs. Graham," I asked quickly:

"Will it be possible for you to bring up those empty suitcases now?"

"Yes, they're all emptied," he

"Then I would like you to bring them back," I said. "I will not be here, but the boys will attend to everything. Please bring, also, some labels to paste on the boxes you are sending out. The boys will make them out, and then you can send the boxes at your convenience. There is no hurry."

"Very well," he said. "I will be up in less than five minutes."

"Thank you," I replied, and then, putting the receiver back on its hook, turned to the boys.

"This is the safest time for those suitcases to come back here," I told them. "Noel and Mary, in all probability, are in their own apartment; Aunt Katherine and Uncle Jack still have Faith, and your father, Junior, is entertaining his mother."

"In other words," Roderick said with engaging impudence, "everything under control?"

"For the time being, yes," I said. "Now here are the things I want you to do."

They snapped to ludicrous attention, bodies erect, heads thrown back, hands to their foreheads in salute.

"Aye, aye, Captain," they chorused.

Getting Signals Mixed

"You're getting your signals mixed," I told them. "But haven't time straighten you out. Now when Chester comes up, put your suitcases at once in your closet where you have been used to keeping them. Then nobody will ever guess they've been out there."

"Second," I went on hurriedly, for I wanted no delaying interruption, "he will bring you some labels for those boxes he is going to send out. Address them to Jim at the farm. Then there will be no danger of Faith or your grandmother seeing them."

"Suppose he asks you before Faith or Granzle, what they are?" Roderick suggested.

"In all probability," I said. "We'll be out there long before the boxes are."

They flinched a bit, and I knew how much they regretted the cutting short of their holiday.

"I'm sorry," I told them, "but we've stayed in now longer than we thought we would."

"Don't you ever think we're kidding?" Junior said volubly. "We've had a swell time, and we're ready to go back any time. When do you think it will be, Mums? Tonight?"

Best Guess

"That is my best guess," I told them. "So I want you to be all packed and ready to go, say, by five o'clock this afternoon, although we may not start until long after that hour."

"I can't let you make any plans for a movie this afternoon, although I do not care what you do between now and two o'clock, when we are going to Aunt Olga's apartment for luncheon, and from the time you leave the luncheon until five o'clock, I have only three stipulations: You must have your suitcases and everything packed; you must put on your very best clothes for the luncheon, which is going to be very special; and you must change again to traveling clothes, packing the others, after the luncheon."

"Gee!" Junior commented. "Sounds like an engagement or a wedding or an anniversary party."

SCHOOL INSPECTION IN PROGRESS HERE

State Department Aid Visits Local Buildings.

A high school inspection program is now going on in the Marion county schools, according to D. T. Mills, county school superintendent.

The inspection is being conducted by F. M. Shelton, high school supervisor from the state department of education. Mr. Shelton is observing instruction and making inspections of school facilities. The inspection will be completed the last of this week or the first of next, Mr. Mills said.

Other activities scheduled in the Marion county school system include the administration of every pupil tests, to be given in the schools March 26, 27 and 28. The tests will be the second set given to county students. The first series was given last Dec. 5, 6 and 7. Scores made in the second series will be compared with those of the first to determine the achievement of students and to compare Marion county schools with other schools in the state. The tests are sponsored by the state department of education.

Eighth grade tests will be given April 12, Supt. Mills said, to all eighth graders. Purpose of the tests is to measure students' ability to do high school work.

TRAINING SCHOOL READY BY APRIL 1

Standard Oil Co. To Hold
Course for Employees.

Standard Oil company's Solo training school building at Center and Leader streets should be ready for classes about April 1. M. Gorbey, training supervisor, predicted today.

Construction work on the building, which will include a laboratory and class rooms, is progressing rapidly, Mr. Gorbey said. Officials had feared the shortage of materials would hold up construction of the school, but materials are now available for its completion. Concrete for the foundation was poured Wednesday and during the next two weeks the building should be erected and equipment installed.

First classes at the school will include 14 service station managers from the district. One class will be given instruction in driveway and service sales and the other instruction in lubrication and service sales. An expected 100 station attendants will complete the two week course. Purpose of the course is to make station managers and attendants more efficient in their jobs.

Progressive Grange

Discusses New Hall

When Progressive Grange met Tuesday night in the Grange hall, a discussion was held on the location for a new grange hall. Nothing definite was decided. The program, which was in charge of Miss Alice Price, lecturer, consisted of a discussion of farm problems. Arthur Smith, county agricultural agent and also a member of the grange, conducted a question and answer session on the same subject.

Two candidates for membership were accepted. A meeting for officers of the Grange will be held Tuesday night, March 19, at 8:30 o'clock to make arrangements for degree work to be put on at Claridon school March 27, when new members will be admitted.

His ship is at Guantanamo Bay.

By The Associated Press

MARION, Ill.—Miss Helen Elliott, who made a pillow-top of World War II service shoulder insignia collected as a hobby, has reaped a harvest of "patches" since word of her curious pastime got around.

Returning soldiers have ripped off their divisional insignia and presented them to her on the spot. Two patches came from Japan.

Now she has made a blanket of patches. Miss Elliott said she may present it to a veterans' organization.

Red Rash

DOWN through the years since Russian revolutionists organized the Communist International, or Comintern, to promote worldwide revolution, as much mischief has been done by suspicion of its activities as by the activities themselves.

The suspicion is flaring up again. It was included in the report to the senate this week by its relations committee, Senator Connally of Texas, who has just returned from London as a delegate to the first meeting of the United Nations Assembly. Russia, he said, has a right to any kind of government it wants, but its rights "do not extend beyond her boundaries."

Winston Churchill also has voiced it in references to misgivings about Russia's "proselytizing." It is one of the principal handicaps to cooperative security. Obviously, as long as a considerable number of non-Russians suspect that their political security, not to mention their economic security, is being attacked as part of an international plan to establish a class dictatorship, there can be no genuine cooperation. A thorough airing of the Communist issue is long overdue.

The Russian Communists themselves recognized this handicap to cooperation in May 1943, when the Comintern, created in 1919, was formally disbanded by its own executive committee. This wartime decision, intended to reassure Russia's allies, did not prove to be reassuring, however. There is still a suspicion that Communists in other countries represent more than their local followers.

Now, while an attempt is going forward to put Russo-American relations on a realistic basis for the postwar years, the suspicion about Communists in our own country needs to be brought into the open and either disposed of or confirmed.

It so happens that in negotiations leading up to our government's recognition of the Soviet Union in November 1933, heavy stress was laid on Russia's pledge to abstain from "proselytizing" in this country.

Relations were established by an exchange of letters between President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvinov, then Soviet commissar of foreign affairs. The text of these letters made it plain that noninterference was the sine qua non of recognition. It has been so long since the matter was given the attention it received then that the text of M. Litvinov's letter dealing specifically with the problem is interesting to reread:

"MY dear Mr. President: I have the honor to inform you that coincident with the establishment of diplomatic relations between our two governments it will be the fixed policy of the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics—

"1. To respect scrupulously the indisputable rights of the United States to order its own life within its own jurisdiction in its own way and to refrain from interfering in any manner in the internal affairs of the United States. . .

"2. To refrain, and to restrain all persons in government service and all organizations of the government or under its direct or indirect control, including organizations in receipt of any financial assistance from it, from any act overt or covert liable in any way whatsoever to injure the tranquility, prosperity, order or security of the whole or any part of the United States. . . and in particular from any act tending to incite or encourage armed intervention, or any agitation or propaganda having as an aim the violation of the United States. . . or the bringing about by force or a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States. . .

These were strong guarantees. Yet it was not until 1943 that the Comintern was disbanded. For 10 years before that, suspicion of Russian connection with Communists in the United States had been kept alive by evidence that this country's occasional attacks of red rash were not wholly of local origin.

Elsewhere in his letter, M. Litvinov pledged his government: "Not to permit the formation or residence on its territory of any organization or group—and to prevent the activity on its territory of any organization or group—which has as an aim the overthrow or the preparation for the overthrow of, or the bringing about by force of a change in the political or social order of the whole or any part of the United States, its territories or possessions."

The state department should make an official report on the first 13 years of relations with the Soviet Union, if its pledge made in 1933 has been kept. If American Communists are on their own, having no connection whatever with the Russian government or the Communist party in Russia, and if Russia desires friendly relations with the United States, it should do what is long overdue. It should issue a plain statement that it renounces the activities in this country of all persons handicapping Russo-American relations by seeming to break the Soviet Union's pledge of 1933 not to interfere in any way in the internal affairs of the United States.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Byrnes Stand Brings New Propaganda.

WASHINGTON, March 14—Now that the Truman-Byrnes leadership has decided to take a stand for our way of life around the world, a new type of propaganda is beginning to appear in the news. Quotations from the Chicago Round Table talk of our atom scientists last Sunday showed they expressed such views as:

"The United States is waving its fist." "It is tragic that this atom bomb has the atom bomb." "There should be no secrets in the hands of the military."

These present a completely erroneous, unreasonable and absurd distortion of the facts of the situation. Have you seen anyone in this entire nation waving any fist, much less our government? No one wants war, no one is advocating it directly or indirectly. A strong diplomatic game is being played for our way of life, and such extreme distortions of it as to call it "fist waving" work our people into false beliefs.

It is fully as unreasonable to assume that it is "tragic" that we, a peace-loving nation advocating freedom of individuals and all nations, have control of the bomb. We should thank God we have it instead of aggressive nations with their freedom.

Secrets in Russia

Russia, which the scientists had in mind, not only has military secrets, but civil, political and every other kind of secret, behind her complete censorship. The scientists never advocated that she drop her isolationism and open up to armament inspection, as UNO provides. In the face of the adamant Russian position, these scientists

Up to this, Moscow has been reluctant and suspicious of UNO, being lured into it only by Mr. Roosevelt going repeatedly to see Stalin and by being urged into San Francisco arrangement.

Thereafter she sent only a second-rate man to its first meeting in London.

So any reasonable person must be led to the conclusion the new, stronger Truman-Byrnes stand for the co-operative way of doing things is making inroads in Russia, bringing her none to defense of the UNO she has refrained from entering wholeheartedly.

And can any thoughtful person think our government, our people or even our military is "militaristic"? It is not militaristic politically, as are the armies of totalitarian nations. It is demobilizing. It is not invading anyone. Its whole military theory is defense, not aggression. Is there any reasonable man anywhere who really can believe this line of Russian propaganda, as presented by Pravda directly and indirectly in various ways by some of our own thoughtless people?

The power in our way of life, rests upon the thoughts of our people. We are involved in a sharp diplomatic game which is not of our making. If our people are misled into accepting erroneous and misleading news and opinions, our power for good is weakened. Our national influence for good declines to whatever extent our people accept these conclusions, and it will fall completely if our people accept them fully.

We do not need censorship. That is the unreasonable, undemocratic way. But we do require that the people get the facts in the face of plain attempts to influence their judgment and corrupt their free minds.

Big 3 Contacts Badly Needed

By Walter Lippmann

THE news, unhappily, is no longer better. All the signs indicate that there is in the making a very great crisis in the Middle East and it is plain that at this time, when it may still be possible to avert and resolve the crisis by diplomacy, there is no effective diplomatic contact between Moscow and Washington.

This is exceedingly serious. For if true negotiation cannot quickly be resumed, there is the greatest danger that a situation will be created which can never again be dealt with by negotiation.

That we are not in diplomatic contact with Moscow is shown by the fact that we have made a public and peremptory inquiry as to whether, and if so why, the Red Army, with offensive armaments, is moving through Iraq in the direction of Turkey and Iran.

Our query is based on reports received at the state department. In normal diplomatic relations the first step would have been to check these reports by instructing the American embassy to discuss them with the foreign office in Moscow, and to discuss them simultaneously in Washington with the Soviet ambassador.

Absent Ambassador

Perhaps this has been done. But the fact is that we have no ambassador in Moscow, and the Soviets have no ambassador in Washington. Averell Harriman has come home, and Gen. Bedell Smith is still here. Ambassador Gromyko has not been in Washington for a long time. There is no one in either capital through whom the heads of state and their foreign ministers can consult and negotiate directly and continually.

We have all been reduced, therefore, to writing notes at long range and to making speeches and issuing public statements. That is not nearly enough in so delicate and dangerous a situation. For all due respect to the ideal of open diplomacy, the practical effect of exchanging public statements is to close down on the chances of successful negotiation.

The fact of the matter is that since the death of President Roosevelt, there has been only spasmodic diplomatic contact between the two governments. Except during the brief and much too hurried visits to Moscow of Harry Hopkins last spring and of Secretary Byrnes in December, Soviet-American relations have been at arms length, not directly and firmly in the hands of the men who alone can determine the issues.

Never before after a great war have the leading men of the leading powers thought they could make peace at a distance, by occasional and breathless interviews, or through minor officials.

In the meantime the situation in the Middle East is developing on an ominous track. There is no indication, and none that I know of to the contrary, that the Soviet Union is mounting a diplomatic offensive for this spring which has as its objective to take the Balkans, Turkey, Iran, Iraq, the whole region from Trieste to the Persian Gulf—out of the British sphere of influence and to absorb it into the Soviet sphere.

Russian Pattern

Russian actions are coordinated and cumulative, and they form a pattern of which the general design is well known and unmistakable. In fact the answer to Mr. Churchill's written for Izvesti by the distinguished historian, Eugene Tarle, must be read as an avowal that this is the Soviet plan.

I said that the timetable is ominous. That is because there is a general expectation that the major crisis in India cannot now be averted, and that it cannot be postponed by as much as 60 days. The Indian political problem is about to come to a head just when the Indian famine will be at its worst and the war is in its last stages.

I hope I am wrong. But it would be the height of imprudence for this country to underestimate the strains and stresses to which the British power is likely to be subjected in the near future. The question for us is how we can bring about a diplomatic, and avert a military, solution in the Middle East.

Mr. Churchill has tried to answer the question by telling us that if we combine our military power with Great Britain, the Soviet Union will pause because it respects superior force. Is he right in thinking that we do in fact have superior force in the Middle East where the Red Army is moving, or at least that our potential superiority is such that it can be exerted now as a deterrent?

Consequence

If by any chance he is wrong, the most serious immediate consequence of following his advice would be that he would have foreclosed the possibility of dealing directly and independently, but of course in the interests of a general peace, with Moscow. Every constructive move we might wish to attempt would be discounted as a make a feeble assault upon average intelligence to say we should disclose our secrets.

Then, simultaneously, a reputable New York gossip columnist professes to present Stalin's thoughts, which are completely censored from all the rest of the world including our diplomats. He reports: "Stalin's top advisers are discussing quitting the UNO" and "Stalin's belief is that militarists here are deliberately building up a case against Russia to get continuance of the draft and other wartime powers."

There should be a law against gossip columnists writing on international or diplomatic subjects, because they are the easiest of all dupes for foreign propaganda, and are so often used (innocently I may assume in most instances) in diplomatic cat and mouse games to scare and deceive our people. They should know Russia has the draft of teen-agers for compulsory military training already in effect, but they neglect to mention this. Furthermore, Pravda, the official Russian mouthpiece, said upon the very same day the first strong kind words about UNO that I have heard of being circulated within isolated Russia.

Change in Russia

Up to this, Moscow has been reluctant and suspicious of UNO, being lured into it only by Mr. Roosevelt going repeatedly to see Stalin and by being urged into San Francisco arrangement.

Thereafter she sent only a second-rate man to its first meeting in London.

So any reasonable person must be led to the conclusion the new, stronger Truman-Byrnes stand for the co-operative way of doing things is making inroads in Russia, bringing her none to defense of the UNO she has refrained from entering wholeheartedly.

And can any thoughtful person think our government, our people or even our military is "militaristic"? It is not militaristic politically, as are the armies of totalitarian nations. ## UNTARNISHED JEWEL

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Saturday, March 14, 1936. A flaming meteor so near the earth that it rattled windows and awakened many persons shot across the sky over central New Jersey in the early morning hours.

A heart attack following a severe cold caused the death of Mrs. Catherine Gorenflo, 77, at her home at 654 Silver street.

A. H. Harris of 419 East Church street was elected president of Province Delta of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, college social fraternity, at a biennial province convention in Indianapolis, Ind.

Fifty-eight candidates had filed for district and county offices in the primary as the deadline was reached. With two exceptions both the Republican and Democratic parties had full tickets.

Members of the Pleasant Township Old-Fashioned Singing school gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ansley of South Grand avenue for a potluck supper and to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mr. Ansley.

Mrs. J. F. Corbin of Canton was the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smith of South High street.

It was Sunday, March 14, 1926. St. Paul's English Lutheran church was rededicated in all-day services with the dedicatory sermon given by Dr. Paul W. Koller of Mansfield, president of the synod of Ohio, United Lutheran church in America.

Dr. D. H. Bailey, vice president of Ohio Northern university, Ada, and former pastor of Epworth M. E. church, spoke at Epworth church in the morning service and at Wesley M. E. in the evening.

M. S. Spencer, 56, former resident of Marion, died in Kenton. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craig of Park boulevard.

Members of the Business Women's club were entertained at a tea given in their clubrooms on East Center street. Chairman of the hostess committee was Miss Kathryn Lenz and other members of the committee were Mrs. J. F. Stansell, Mrs. T. J. Ballenger, Mrs. Pearl Canterbury, Mrs. Gail Hoch and Miss Sarah Sheedy.

measure to coerce the Soviet Union.

We ought to pass the British loan, and do it quickly. We ought to make a French loan. We ought to bring about a settlement of the Ruhr. We ought to make a prompt peace, apart from the colonies, with Italy. We ought to enact universal military training. We ought to reconstitute our Mediterranean and European fleets. We ought to bring forward a great project for the economic development of the Middle East.

But if we do any of these necessary, desirable, and inherently constructive things inside an alliance which is avowedly anti-Soviet, they will surely accentuate the antagonism of Moscow, far more than they reinforce our own influence for a peaceable settlement.

Yet we must do all these things. But to do them now, and have any hope of getting good results from any of them, we shall have to do something else. The President will have to make a move to establish direct contact with Stalin.

After the spectacular but no doubt unintended effects of his presence at Churchill's speech, it is most necessary to make a very special effort to see that real diplomatic contact is not broken.

The impending crisis is much too serious, the stake of the country much too great, to take the awful risk of lacking the means to a solution.

The word mausoleum derives from King Mausolus to whom a monument was erected after his death by his wife, Queen Artemisia, in 353 B.C.

Anglo-American Oil Pact

By Raymond Moley

ALF M. LANDON has a right to speak with great authority on problems involving oil. He led the fight in Kansas for the first petroleum conservation legislation.

He was the only state governor to attend President Roosevelt's 1933 conference on oil conservation. After the attempt to set up federal conservation legislation failed, Landon's state, Kansas, was the first to ratify the compact drawn up for the oil states. And it may be added, Mr. Landon is a successful oil man in his own right.

Speaking on Tuesday before the Kansas Oil Association, he read a good lesson for all of us on the Anglo-American petroleum agreement, now before the senate for ratification. This agreement, it should be noted, will have status as a treaty. As such, it will take precedence over all state and federal laws and regulations. Also, this Anglo-American agreement will be followed by a multilateral international agreement, the outlines of which are in the Anglo-American Agreement.

Wide Control Possible

Mr. Landon points out that due to the loose wording of the measure before the senate, there is ample reason to believe that "every facility of the worldwide petroleum industry will be brought within the provisions of the agreement." This, Mr. Landon asserts, leaves open the possibility of price fixing by an international body.

Eliminate Friction

This is an extremely hopeful means of eliminating friction, and no one can deny the desirability of some international means of limiting the reaches of the big powers, while permitting nations with no oil of their own to get what they need in a fair market.

But to build international agreements on vague and ambiguous language is to court trouble and to permit a government in Washington or an international board to reach unnecessarily into the domestic affairs of this country.

The fact is that all nations are now able to produce oil freely in the United States. We have an "open door." We ought to insist on an open door everywhere. The rights of American producers should be guarded in British and in Russian territory, if all nations are to agree on this vital issue. It would, Mr. Landon suggests, be well to settle this whole oil question before money loans or gifts are made to any country. But the senate should clear the ambiguity from this present agreement.

Far North Warm Spot

Although Hammerfest, Norway, is farther north than any other town in Europe, its harbor is ice-free all year around, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Because of warm westerly winds and the North Atlantic drift originating in the Gulf of Mexico, the average January temperature in Hammerfest is only a little below freezing.

Modern Picture

Longfellow's picture of the village smithy and observations of smiths in action have probably given many of us a pretty definite impression of the forge, the bellows, and the glowing coals. The modern blacksmith's forge is motor-driven and burns light fuel oil—O.S.V. Science and Appliances.

CROSSTOWN

By Roland Coe

These virtues glorify your own life and benefit you more than those to whom you show kindness. Prov. 3:3: "Let not kindness and truth forsake thee."

Those who are capable of judgment are shocked and saddened by a demonstration of people's dignity is conspicuous by its absence as often as by its presence. Others are vaguely amused, or what is worse, left drooling over the prospect of picking up some easy money themselves by doing the same thing if they get a chance.

It reminds us of the zoology laboratory years ago when a wag offered a dimwit five dollars if he would swallow a pickled worm that was the subject for dissection—and the dimwit took a bargain. Down went the worm and away went the dimwit's standing as a human being. Henceforth, he was known to one and all as Wormy and suitably named.

Adults can take this stuff for what it is worth—the necessity of radio's pitch-men to draw a crowd so they can sell their junk by putting the suckers into a mellow mood. But it is something else for the kids to be bombarded with the impression it is smart to be a fool if the price is high enough.

Radio, being nationwide, can bring so much money to bear on the individual that the price is bound to be high—for the biggest fool. It also rans get nothing but a cake of soap, a candy bar, or maybe some cigarettes.

It's useless to protest, but unless someone does protest we hate to think what radio jockeys may think up next. Those poolroom loafers used to try out some dandies on the town hall.

Everyday Bell Legalized

Sterling, Ill., recently found it necessary for its city council to adopt a special ordinance amendment before the $2,100 First Methodist Church carillon could sound forth on weekdays as well as Sundays. The law, aimed at loudspeaker advertising and other community noise, had at first made no legal leeway for the church.

The First Robin

WE heard today that the first robin reached Washington, D. C. The image read "It can be stated on what is accepted as the capital as trustworthy authority that the first robin has arrived. No spokesman for either party was willing, however, to come over his own name and say so."

We sought confirmation at once, with the following results:

Washington (A.P.)—While there is some reason to believe the first robin has arrived, administration leaders were reticent today. A cabinet officer wished to commit himself to no leaders in both the house and senate disagree queries with the statement that they had nothing to say at this time.

Washington (U.P.)—President Truman has yet confirmed or denied the arrival of the first robin. He confined himself at first to the statement, "You may say I think first robins are a good thing."

Later at his press conference when the question was put to him bluntly: "Has the first robin arrived?" he seemed puzzled and replied: "The will come out in good time. The first robin went through weeks ago and I saw nothing in the press about it. If the newspapers would give as much space to bluebirds as it does to robins it would be better for America."

This didn't seem very informative. We wired our special Washington correspondents, who said:

"Administration leaders are holding off their 1946 first robin policy. Members of the house and senate also refuse to commit themselves pending a regrouping of their lines. It is felt that the first robin could be brought through by a bi-partisan coalition. A few notes are being sent to the robin either way."

We wired for more and got:

"The whole question of whether or not the first robin has been seen here and cleared up points north remains a matter of conjecture. A growing group in the senate feels that the whole question of spring harbingers is outside its jurisdiction. Some leaders are suggesting the creation of FMBC (Federal Migratory Bird Control Commission) with a starting appropriation of $8,000,000,000. 'It would mean an economy,' said Senator Crepps 'as it could also handle first bobolinks.'"

Later this came through:

"Chester Bowles, asked if he had seen the first robin declared warmly, 'This whole robin issue is raised by the Chambers of Commerce, the dry goods lobby, the real estate lobby and the vested interests who want an early spring. It means ruin.'"

Ed Pauley was quite frank. "I don't believe the bird will ever make it," he said. "But, if it got a better chance than I had, I guess it is out."

President Truman spent another week-end on his yacht and we understand that he insists the she make 18½ knots, operate in a minimum of 18½ feet of water and have a crew of 18½ men.

Also that the President has changed the clock so that it rings 1½ bells every four hours.

Pettigrew the Penguin writes, "say, boss, went to see the lost week-end and have been ever since do you suppose it could be because as a chaser I saw the spiral stairs, and listen boss can you get me a pass for stoga drunk."

Anything for a Laugh

By Truman Twill

This is an earnest protest against debasement of human beings on a national hook-up. It's one thing when a man is drunk like a monkey, which is an inalienable right, but radio's discovery that people can be bribed to make fools of themselves from coast to coast is a dangerous thing and needs to be discouraged.

All that radio has discovered, when you start to think about it, is that every human being has his price. People will do anything for money. The shrewd boys of the air-waves have taken the horseplay of the pool rooms into broadcasting studios and raised the ante, that's all.

What once was supposed to be funny was the town hallwit was bribed to swallow a cake of chewing tobacco for a dollar by a gang of loafers who wondered what would happen if he offered as amusement for the nation. The radio sucker gets $500 and a cake of soap for making a fool of himself in front of millions—but the net impression is the same.

Those who are capable of judgment are shocked and saddened by a demonstration of people's dignity is conspicuous by its absence as often as by its presence. ## Apple That's Ugly and Scarce Leads in Health Vitamin ITHACA, N. Y.—Efforts of agricultural scientists to introduce more Vitamin C into the human diet have extended to research with an old European variety of apples.

Food chemists at the New York State Experiment station at Cornell University, have discovered that the Calville Blanc apple, a variety of European origin, contains about as much Vitamin C, or ascorbic acid, as citrus fruits. The acid vitamin is a health preserving agent found in many fresh foods.

A single tree in the orchard at Geneva is the only known specimen of this variety in the United States. Propagation has begun, but it will be two or three years before any stock will be available.

The Calville Blanc apple, which was introduced to the U. S. Pacific coast over 25 years ago, probably never will be popular in its present form even though high in Vitamin C content. It is unattractive and poor in eating quality by present standards, and few people would enjoy munching such an apple—Vitamin C notwithstanding.

But the food chemists point out that the Calville Blanc does have considerable value as a variety for use in breeding. It is hoped by these scientists that sometime an apple will be developed both rich in Vitamin C and pleasing to the eye and palate as well.

On an average, say the experts, the Calville Blanc contains 37 milligrams of Vitamin C in each 100 grams of fruit. This means that a five-ounce Calville Blanc apple will supply about three-fourths of the daily allowance of Vitamin C for an adult as prescribed by the National Research Council.

Then Suddenly It's Spring, but Not All at Same Time

By NATHAN OATIS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK, March 14.—Spring will be a little late this year in the eastern part of the United States.

In most of the country, it will come around on March 20, but in the eastern standard time zone that will be the day before spring. Of course, it might as well be spring—the season is just around the corner. It will be along on March 21.

In fact, they'll tell you up at Hayden Planetarium, spring busts out all over at the same time. It's just the clocks that read differently from place to place, explains Associate Curator Robert R. Coles. Spring comes when the sun is at the vernal equinox—standing over the equator on its way north. When this happens, it's March 20 in most of the United States—9:33 p. m. in San Francisco, 10:33 in Denver and 11:33 in Chicago—but it's March 21 at 12:33 a. m. in the east.

The season arrives first, by local time, just east of the international date line, which plays around with the 180th meridian in mid-Pacific. It will be spring at 6:33 p. m. March 20 on Midway. In the southern hemisphere, it isn't the spring that comes with the vernal equinox—it's the fall. This will happen in Buenos Aires at 1:33 a. m. March 21.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDSEN, M.D.

Liver Damage

It is only in recent times that many of the facts concerning inflammation of the liver or hepatitis have been collected. Now it is known that certain infections, as well as various drugs, may cause liver damage.

In a group of 43 patients studied by Dr. Nathan W. Chalkin and Dr. Simeon O. Chlenoff of New York City, the most common causes of the liver inflammation were infections, drugs, such as arsenic, and various general diseases, such as pneumonia. More than one-half the patients developed the condition because of infection and the majority of them were over twenty years of age.

While the exact cause of liver inflammation is not known, it would appear that it is due to a virus that is an organism so small that it can pass through the openings in a porcelain filter. The patients who developed the condition as a result of drugs had received such preparations as sulfathiazole and sulfadiazine. It is thought that these drugs may have direct damaging action in the liver cells. Because of this fact it may be inadvisable to use sulfonamide drugs for infections which develop during the course of chronic liver disease.

In a number of the cases the acute inflammation of the liver or hepatitis followed the use of arsenic-containing drugs. Other conditions which produced hepatitis were pneumonia and syphilis.

It appears that no matter what may cause hepatitis, the symptoms are about the same. There may be pain in the abdomen, loss of appetite, vomiting and diarrhea. In a few instances the condition may begin with symptoms like those of a cold. Fever is present in some instances. About three to five days following the onset of the condition, jaundice or a greenish-yellow discoloration of the skin as well as the mucous membranes, especially the white portion of the eyes, may occur.

This may last from seven to twenty-six days. The disorder is diagnosed on the basis of the symptoms and various laboratory tests are made to determine how the liver is functioning. In children it would appear that this condition as a rule, runs a rather mild course. In adults it may be more serious.

There is no specific treatment for the infection which produces hepatitis, insofar as it is known at present. Complete rest in bed, the use of the proper diet and the giving of plenty of fluids are all helpful measures. The diet should contain an abundance of sugars, and proteins such as meat and milk.

A great deal further study is needed to determine the exact way in which the infectious form of liver inflammation spreads and to develop preventive measures.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: Is it possible to permanently raise a prolapsed transverse colon by electrical or manual manipulation, or both, or by operation?

A: Answer: It is not likely that manipulation would restore a colon to its normal position. An operation might be performed for this condition. However, a gain in weight and strengthening of the abdominal muscles by exercise may be all that is necessary.

Q: How can one get from foods the proper iodine requirements necessary for good health?

A: Answer: Sea foods, such as oysters, salmon, and sardines, contain the most iodine. It is also found in butter and milk. Most vegetables, especially those grown in land near the sea, contain iodine in small quantity. The use of iodine salt will also aid in supplying a sufficient quantity of iodine.

Q: D. A. W.: Is it harmful to use suppositories in stubborn cases of constipation?

A: Answer: The frequent use of suppositories may be habit-forming. However, properly employed, they may be helpful in overcoming constipation until the proper bowel habits are formed with diet, exercise and the drinking of plenty of fluids.

Q: B. H.: Just what is rheumatic heart disease? The young man who has it is twenty-eight years old.

A: Answer: There is a disorder known as rheumatic fever, which frequently does damage to the heart. Rheumatic fever is probably due to infection with a virus, which is an organism so small that it can pass through a tiny pore, it may be possible to ward opening in a filter. With proper future damage to the heart.

KNOW YOUR VITAMINS!

YOU NEED THEM ALL. EVERYONE IS NECESSARY TO A HEALTHY LIFE. HERE ARE A FEW POINTS OF IN-TEREST ABOUT EACH:

VITAMIN A

Helps build resistance to infection by building healthy tissues—especially in the nose and throat.
Helps guard against colds. Very essential to growth —especially in children. Tends to increase appetite, improve digestion. Helps keep skin healthier, more able to resist irritation and infection.

VITAMIN B

(Or B1) has its chief effect on the nerve tissues. Deficiency of Vitamin B may result in general weakness and nervousness, poor appetite, or tend to disturb your digestion.

VITAMIN C

Helps give you sturdier bones and stronger teeth.
Aids in keeping blood vessels healthier. Serious lack may cause a condition of anemia, and lesser deficiency may mean defective teeth, lowered resistance, general weakness or restlessness.

VITAMIN D

The "sunshine Vitamin"—helps maintain the proper level of calcium in the blood. Adequate amounts of Vitamin D are essential for developing and maintaining sound teeth and bone structure. Adequate amounts also prevent rickets in babies.

VITAMIN G

(Or B2). Serious lack causes pellagra, but lesser deficiency tends to upset your direction, your nerves and your skin.
